2024 湖北专升本统考英语小蓝书预测卷十五

试卷获取方式

Part I　Vocabulary & Structure

1．I still remember the day _____ we met for the first time.

2．We hurried to the zoo, only to be told the _____ (enter) to the zoo was closed.

3．She has left an honest and _____ (rely) impression on the audience.

4．Many students prefer working hard to _____(equip) with knowledge.

5．All the employees are considering _____ (go) to the city center for the fashion show.

6．_____(separate) from other continents for millions of years, Australia has many plants and animals not found in any other country in the world.

7．The advertisement for engineers in the local paper attracted many _____（appliance）.

8．Visitors were struck by the natural scenery here, which was beautiful beyond _____ (describe).

9．The underground system_____（build）in the city now will be open next year.

10．I would rather she_____ (tell) me tomorrow than today.

11．Without any food _____ (leave) in the house, he had to go to the supermarket.

12．They ran to help the man _____ car broke down.

13．If not _____（handle）properly, medical waste from hospitals may contribute to spreading diseases.

14．I insist _____ your taking immediate action to put this right.

15. London has the oldest port _____ (build) by the Romans in the first century AD.

Part II Reading Comprehension

Passage One

We would all love to learn how to be happy. And sometimes, the solution comes from a surprising place.

During his fieldwork in a remote African village, an anthropologist (人类学家) had devoted himself to studying the unique habits and culture of the local tribe（部落）. He had been working in the village for quite some time and on the day before his scheduled return home, he composed a gift—a basket full of delightful fruits from the area, wrapped thoughtfully in a piece of cloth. He placed this offering beneath a tree and then gathered the village children around.

The man drew a line in the dirt, looked at the children, and said, “As soon as I signal to start, run to the tree; the first to arrive will claim the basket of fruits.” However, when he signaled, instead of racing against each other, the children joined hands and ran together to the tree. Then They settled around the basket and enjoyed their treat as a group.

Bewildered by their act of unity, the anthropologist asked why they chose to run collectively when any one of them could have seized all the fruits. A young girl looked up at him and said innocently, “How can one of us be happy if all the other ones are sad?”

Years later, Desmond Tutu, the well -known South African activist, remembered how a girl once thought about things in a simple yet deep way. He used the word “ubuntu” to describe her thinking. “Ubuntu” means “I exist because we all do.” In other words, we are who we are because of our relationships with others. For that tribe, to be human is to relate with and through others. They think that our happiness comes from the union of our joys and the meaningful impact they have on the community.

16. What gift did the anthropologist prepared?

_____

17. How did the children reach the tree?

_____

18. What does the underlined word “bewildered” probably mean in Paragraph 4?

_____

19. Where does the happiness of this tribe come from?

_____

20. Do you agree with the tribe’s belief about happiness? Please give your reason (s).

_____

Passage Two

When I think of the hardest moments of my life, ironically many have turned out to be blessings. The most severe one was being pretty much kicked out of my PhD program at the University of Georgia in 2016.

The program in Georgia turned out not to be the right fit for me despite my best efforts. The whole year was riddled with exhaustion, insecurity, fear, and exclusion. I was in therapy myself for most of the year to cope, and the only thing that made it tolerable was a lot of support from my family and friends.

I was utterly devastated when I went back home; it felt like my career was over. Fast forward to today, however, and I can see that getting driven out of the Georgia program was one of the best things that ever happened to me. In 2017, when I transferred to a doctoral program in San Diego, I began to thrive and now my business is doing exceptionally well. I am deeply grateful I studied in San Diego and happy that I didn't stay in Georgia. It was great that I was driven out! As the saying goes, "What seems like good or bad news now can turn out to be the opposite in the future."

Ironically, the research and writing training from the University of Georgia significantly helped me develop my academic, professional, and personal writing. I worked hard in Georgia and it paid off: The learning and growth I experienced were incomparable.

As my personal example demonstrates, life is a total roller coaster（过山车）. Every now and then you are able to discover a new high, a ceiling-breaking moment, whereas in other moments you may feel like you're falling deeper and deeper into hell. While these experiences can be incredibly tough, they present us with valuable opportunities to trust life and cultivate personal growth and learning.

21. What was the author's most severe moment of his life?

_____

22. How was the year at Georgia according to the author?

_____

23. What message does the author want to convey with his personal experience in the 3rd paragraph?

_____

24. Why did the author thank the University of Georgia?

_____

25. What will you do if you are in a dark moment? Please explain.

_____

Passage Three

Have you ever gotten stung by a bee? Well, for 18-year-old Mikaila Ulmer from the US, her first bee sting at the age of 4 was a special experience. It inspired her to make a difference and turned her into an entrepreneur.

The bee sting scared Mikaila, but it also made her interested in the insect. She soon learned how important bees are for the planet and how they are at risk of dying out.

At not even 5 years old, Mikaila wanted to do something to help save the bees. With her parents' help, she set up a lemonade stand in her front yard. She used her grandmother's homemade lemonade recipe and added a little bit of honey to it. The money from every lemonade she sold went to bee protection groups.

But Mikaila wanted to do more. She made her special recipe into a product, called Me and the Bees Lemonade. At age 10, she went on a TV show with her dad to try to get funding and public attention. It worked. Now, more than 10 years since her first lemonade, five different drink products are procurable at many restaurants and stores across the country.

In 2020, Mikaila brought out a book about her experience as an entrepreneur called Bee Fearless, Dream Like a Kid. As she explained to CNBC, "I always say that it's important to dream like a kid and that (as a kid) it's the perfect age to start figuring out what you enjoy and trying new things and taking risks."

26. What did Mikaila want to do after she was first stung by a bee?

_____

27. How did Mikaila make money at age 5?

_____

28. What does the underlined word "procurable" in Para. 4 mean?

_____

29. What is Bee Fearless, Dream Like a Kid?

_____

30. What do you think of Mikaila? And give your reasons.

_____

Passage Four

People say that a dog is man's best friend. Once dogs find their "people", they will stay by their side until the very end. Sadly, however, many families lost or even gave up their dogs.

Leo is a dog from Thailand. He became popular on the Internet because of his amazing story. About four years ago; the poor dog was left behind by his owners somewhere near a gas station. Hoping his owners would return for him, the dog never left his spot(地点).

Luckily. Leo was never truly alone. Seeing the poor thing, people there decided to help him out. Saowalak, a 45-year-old woman, took the poor dog back to her home after giving him food. However, Leo just kept on running away only to return to his old spot and wait for someone by the side of the road.

In the end, she let him but still brought over some food every day so that Leo wouldn't be hungry.

Another person, Anuchit, also cared about Leo and decided to put some photos of the dog online to find his family. That's when the Internet did its magic. After being put on the Internet, the photos finally reached Leo's missing family. They called Anuchit, telling him how the dog in the pictures looked like their dog.

It turned out that Leo was their dog. They lost him back in 2015. They looked for him for a week but had little hope of finding him. They thought that they would never see him again.

The family and Leo got the chance to see each other again. But while both seemed happy to be reunited(重逢), it also seemed like something has changed with Leo. When the family asked Leo to get into the car and go home with them, Leo stopped. …

31. Did Leo become popular on the Internet because he was cute?

_____

32. Why did Leo keep on running away after Saowalak took him back to her home?

_____

33. What did Saowalak do after Leo running away?

_____

34. According to the passage, what does "the Internet did its magic" mean?

_____

35. What did Leo decide to do next? Please write an ending for the passage.

_____

Passage Five

Following My Dream

I grew up in a poor family with six brothers, three sisters, my father and mother. We had little money and few goods, but plenty of love and attention. I was happy and energetic. I understood that no matter how poor a person was, he could still afford a dream.

My dream was athletics. By the time I was sixteen, I could throw a ninety-mile-per-hour fastball and hit anything moving on the football field. And I was so lucky that my high-school coach was Ollie Jarvis, who not only believed in me, but often told me “The dream is priceless.” However, when I was about to get off the ground, one particular thing happened, which almost ruined (毁坏)my long-held dream.

It was the summer holiday in Senior Two and a friend recommended me for a summer job. I was offered $12.25 per hour. Compared with the average $3.5, that was a big sum. I was so excited, because this meant a chance for money in my pocket, certainly, money for a new bike and new clothes, and the start of savings for a house for my mother. The prospect (前景)of the job was inviting, and I wanted to jump at the opportunity.

Then I realized I would have to give up summer baseball training to handle the work schedule. I didn’t dare to tell my coach. I thought of the advice my mother often gave me when I lacked courage, “If you make your bed, you have to lie in it.” I decided to talk to my coach by myself. After all, my dream of buying my mom a house and having money in my pocket was worth facing his disappointment to me. I gathered my courage and knocked at his door…

Following My Dream
I grew up in a poor family and we had ____36____ money and few goods.	⇨	I understood that no matter how poor a person was, he could still ____37____ a dream.
⇩		⇩
By the time I was sixteen, I could _38____a fast ball and hit anything moving on the football field.	⇨	I was so lucky that my coach was Ollie Jarvis, who often told me “The dream is priceless.”
⇩		⇩

In the summer holiday I was ____ 39 _____ for a summer job. I was offered $12.25 per hour.	⇨	I was so excited about the big sum, because this meant a chance for money in my pocket, money for a new bike and so on.
⇩		⇩
If I wanted to continue to work, I would have to give up summer baseball training.	⇨	I didn't dare to tell my coach, but my dream of buying my mom a house and having money in my pocket was worth facing his _ 40 _____ to me.

Part III Error Correction

41. I'm so exciting that 1 can't wait to share with you what I experienced today.

A B C D

(　　)_____

42. I stood at the door, not knew what to do at first. (　　)_____

A B C D

43.To my surprise, all the kids began to focus their attentions on the songs.

A B C D

(　　)_____

43. Thanks for this, Dad has come to love hot pot. (　　)_____

A B C D

45. I gave my aunt some flowers and I received a blue book from him. (　　)_____

A B C D

Part IV Translation

46. 老实说，我认为出国留学很有意义。(make sense)

_____

47. 每次读《老人与海》时，我都会对那位老人有更深理解。(The Old Man and the Sea)

_____

48. 虽然有些数学题十分难，但我已算出了一些题。（work out）

_____

49. 你越有礼貌，你被攻击的可能性越小。（be attacked）

50. 武汉是一座位于中国中部的大城市。（located）

51. We all have strengths and weakness. A good manager concentrates on bring out of each employee's best side and combining those strengths. Because no one person can have all the skills needed to success, we need to build our teams in a way that makes full use of these skills. That is not easy. You must begin by knowing your team members. When you know people, you learn what encourages them. You learn how they interact with certain people under certain conditions. Only with this kind of information can you build a good team.

Part V Writing

52. 假定你是李华，你的英国朋友 Jerry 写信邀请你寒假期间去伦敦游玩，你因故无法前往，请你回信表达歉意，内容包括：

1. 谢绝的理由；

2. 提议暑假去拜访他。

注意：

1. 写作词数应为 80 左右；

2. 请按如下格式在答题卡的相应位置作答。

Dear Jerry,

Yours,

Li Hua