Passage 2

Directions: Read the following passage. After reading it, you should give brief answers to the 5 questions (No.16 to No.20) that follow. The answers (in no more than 3 words) should be written after the corresponding numbers on the Answer Sheet.

Scientists believe that 4.5 billion years ago, Mars and Earth began their existence under similar conditions. During the first billion years, liquid water was abundant on the surface of Mars. This is an indication that Mars was much warmer at that time. Mars also had a thicker atmosphere of carbon dioxide (CO_2). Many scientists think it is possible that life began under these favorable conditions. After all, Earth developed the atmosphere which is rich in oxygen and the ozone layer. Ozone (O_3) is a form of oxygen. The ozone layer protects the Earth from harmful ultraviolet light from the Sun. While life not only began on Earth, it also survived and became more complex. In contrast, Mars lost its thick atmosphere of carbon dioxide and ultraviolet radiation intensified(加剧). The planet eventually grew colder, and its water froze.

In 1976, two American spacecraft landed on Mars and performed four experiments. Three experiments tested for biological activity in the soil. Unfortunately, these tests did not lead to any definite results. The fourth experiment looked for any evidence of life, dead or alive, but found none. Scientists are planning another investigation of Mars. They want to search for fossils, the ancient remains of life. If life ever existed on Mars, the future mission may find records of it under sand or in the ice. Even if the further mission discovers no evidence of past or present life on Mars, the new mission may clarify our understanding of how life begins. Scientists will better understand the conditions that are necessary for the survival of life on Earth or in the universe.

16. How old is Earth according to this passage?

About _____.

17. Was Mars warmer or colder when it was less than one billion years old than now?

It was _____.

18. Why do many scientists believe that it was possible for life to begin on Mars during the first billion years of its existence?

Because many scientists believe that it is possible that life began under _____.

19. What was the result of the fourth experiment?

The fourth experiment looked for any evidence of life, dead or alive, but found _____.

20. What do scientists want to search for on Mars?

Passage 4

Directions: Read the following passage. After reading it, you are required to complete the outline below it (No.26 to No.30). You should write your answers briefly (in no more than three words) on the Answer Sheet correspondingly.

Today our knowledge of food and what it does for our bodies is far more advanced than that of the old times. Now we know about vitamins and how each kind of vitamin helps in the growth of a particular part of our body. There are on the market all kinds of vitamins which one can take to make up for one's lack of certain important things that are needed for good health. Of course, if we eat well and properly, the food we eat will take care of our body and so there is no need to take any kinds of vitamins unless our doctor tells us that our bodies are short of something that can be supplied by them.

Generally speaking, everything we eat does some good to our body, but if we eat too much of one kind of food and pay too little attention to others, we may have too much of one kind and not enough of others. Then we may be in trouble.

We are often told that we must eat some meat at each meal in order to get the necessary proteins. That is only partly true, for proteins are not found only in meat. We can also get them from some vegetables.

The best advice about what to eat is that we should eat all kinds of food but never too much for any.

Eat Healthily

Our knowledge of food: 1) far more advanced

2) each kind of vitamin helps in the growth of __26__ of our body

No need to eat vitamins: 1) if we eat __27__

2) unless our doctor tells us that __28__ vitamins

Where to find proteins: can be found in meat as well as in __29__

Suggestions to us: eat every kind of food but __30__ of one kind
