Passage 1

Notice of Baggage Inspection (检查)

In order to ensure your safety and that of other passengers, the Transportation Security Administration (TSA) is legally obligated to inspect all checked baggage. As part of this process, certain bags are selected for inspection and may be opened and examined. Your bag happened to be one of those selected for inspection.

夸克扫描王 极速扫描，就是高效

During the inspection, your bag and its contents may have been searched for prohibited (违禁的) items. Once the inspection was completed, the contents were returned to your bag.

In situations where the TSA officer encountered a locked bag that could not be opened for inspection, they might have been compelled to break the locks. We sincerely apologize for any inconvenience caused by this action. However, please note that TSA cannot assume responsibility for any damage to your locks resulting from this necessary security measure.

To ensure a hassle-free trip and secure your baggage during future travels, we highly recommend visiting the www.tsa.gov website for useful packing tips and suggestions.

We greatly appreciate your understanding and cooperation. If you have any questions, comments, or concerns, please feel free to reach out to the TSA Contact Center for further assistance.

Passage 3

People in the United States love their dogs and treat them well. They frequently use various expressions incorporating the word "dog". Here are some examples: Some people say we live in a "dog-eat-dog world", indicating that we exist in a highly competitive environment and a great number of individuals are struggling for the same resources or opportunities. They also say that a person has to "work like a dog" if he wants to succeed, so "work like a dog" here means "work very hard". Besides, people say "Every dog has its day." This implies that everyone will experience a phase of achievement or prosperity throughout their lifetime. If a man tells you that he is "in the doghouse", he might have been punished by his wife. However, the husband may decide that it is best to leave things alone and not to cause more trouble. He might decide to "let sleeping dogs lie".

Passage 4

It is a blow for the Ugly Bettys and Plain Janes—research shows that good looks lead to better pay. A study of 4,000 young men and women found that beauty boosted pay checks more than intelligence. Those judged to be the more attractive earned up to 10 percent more than their less attractive friends and colleagues. Applied to the average salary of £25,000 a year, the "plainness penalty (处罚)" would make a difference of £2,500 a year—or around £50 a week.

It is unclear what is behind the phenomenon but it may be that beauty creates confidence. The self-confident may appear to be doing better than they are and will not hesitate about asking for a pay rise.

Researcher Jason Fletcher, of Yale University in the U.S., rated the attractiveness of the 4,000 men and women. Just over half were judged average, while 7 percent were felt to be very attractive and 8 percent were judged unattractive or very unattractive. The volunteers also sat an IQ test and reported their salary. It became clear that pay scales were far from fair. For instance, a 14-point increase on the IQ score was associated with a 3 to 6 percent increase in wage. But being of above-average looks increased pay by 5 to 10 percent.

For a plain person to be paid the same as a very attractive one, they would have to be 40 percent brighter, the journal Economics Letters reports.

Dr Fletcher said: "The results do show that people's looks have an impact on their wages and it can be very important."

31. The meaning of "plainness penalty" is to be paid _____ for being ordinarily-looking.

Directions: *Translate the following sentences from English into Chinese. Please write your translation on the Answer Sheet.

Charles Darwin was regarded as one of the most influential scientists of all time. (51) His theory of evolution explained how life on Earth developed. It is the basic concept upon which the life sciences are built.

Darwin's father was a doctor. (52) On leaving school, Darwin followed in his father's footsteps and went to Edinburgh University to study medicine. However, he gave up because he hated the sight of blood. He then went to the University of Cambridge, intending to work in a church.

(53) Darwin discovered his love of natural history at Cambridge, where he spent much of his time collecting insects. He graduated in 1831 and accepted a place as a naturalist on board Beagle. (54) The ship's five-year voyage proved to be the most important period in Darwin's life, and it provided the basis for his future ideas and writings.

(55) He returned to England in 1836 and published an account of his travels, which made him very famous. He began to develop his theory of natural selection and published his revolutionary book On the Origin of Species in 1859. This was followed by The Descent of Man in 1871, in which he applied his ideas to explaining the evolution of humans.
