Benjamin Franklin was born in 1706 in Boston, Massachusetts. His mother and father were Puritans (清教徒). They left England and moved to the English colony of Massachusetts in order to escape persecution (迫害) for their religion. In Boston, Franklin left school when he was ten years old and worked for his father for two years. Then he went to work on his brother's newspaper. He became the editor of this paper when he was sixteen. Because he wanted to be independent, he went to Philadelphia. There he began his own newspaper. He worked hard and saved his money. And by the age of 24, he was one of the most successful men in Philadelphia.

In 1732, Franklin published a book Poor Richards Almanac (年鉴). Most almanacs contained information for farmers, such as information about the days and weeks of the year and about the weather. To his almanacs, Franklin added wise sayings and his observations about life. Some of these sayings are still famous today, for example "Early to bed and early to rise makes a man healthy, wealthy and wise." "Waste not, want not." and "A penny saved is a penny earned."

Passage 4

There are a few reasons why a home-based business may have trouble in securing business financing (筹集资金) through a bank or credit union:

 Your business isn't firmly established: If your business is less than two years old, it's unlikely that a traditional lender will be willing to take a chance on funding your business.

 Your business credit score is lacking: Once you apply for an employer identification (雇主识别) number, you have to start building a business credit score. You can improve the score by paying your bills, establishing trade credit accounts, and staying in business. The business and personal credit score both affect whether a lender is willing to offer you business financing.

 You lack a demonstrated (证明的) need: Taking on debt is a common way for raising funds. However, you should never do so unless you need to. Lenders will refuse to finance a business that can't clearly show why they need funding, and how they'll pay it back.

If, as a home business owner, you discover an area that requires serious investment, you should be able to state your reasons to lenders, whether they are your local bank or an online lender.

32. Whether a business can obtain financing is likely to be decided by _____.
